

Do you love to engage adults and young children in celebrating their strengths, learning skills and finding joy through creativity?
Are you an artist and an educator?

Inclusive Arts Vermont is looking to add limited part-time, contracted Teaching Artists to its team, specifically for Start With The Arts (SWTA). SWTA is an inclusive arts-based literacy and professional development program for childcare providers and the children in their care, ages 0-5.

We have multiple iterations of this program with varying lengths and hours required. More information is available upon request or visiting our website: <https://www.inclusiveartsvermont.org/education/start-with-the-arts/>

Our program opportunities are statewide. We are interested in hearing from teaching artists working in a wide variety of mediums and genres.

We have special interest in candidates with a background in engaging people with disabilities, and we always offer support and further training to our team. We offer paid planning time and mileage compensation. We also have lots of fun!
